

Thank you, Milan

For an extrovert, Gemini, psychologist, “transmontana”, Toastmaster woman is unusual to be speechless.

Well ...

After witnessing what happened this past weekend with 450 people arriving in Milan to learn laugh, and be together. Where all those people were received with competence, joy and always with a smile. Where everything ran smoothly, the food was great and the party was awesome. Where all the details were thought to make everyone’s experience memorable. But most of all, the smile! Everywhere and every time we looked at Milan’s team we saw nothing but a big (and stylish) smile. Tired, busy, hectic, but always smiling.

After such weekend, such party, such huge and well-organized event, there are not good enough words that come to truly appreciate and recognize the work of this wonderful team.

I’m sure you’ve seen the impact of your work on the enthusiasm and energy you created. On how people reacted and came together to say ... Yes, Milan was great and memorable!

I hope this was also a great and memorable experience for you that you will cherish as one of your best moments in life. For you certainly made that happen for many people this past weekend.

Thank you Eri for leading with excellence and style this wonderful team of committed, competent and happy people to this success.

You will all be in our hearts for years to come.

A very much appreciated District Director
